"The pain of 38 years left and has never returned"

715Ag stops menstrual-related pain

I have a 50 year old friend who has had a problem ever since she started menstruating. When she was a toddler she had a boil under her left arm. It was lanced and a couple of stitches were used to close the wound. As she grew that scar gradually moved down to the outer edge of the top of the breast. Just before and during the first day or two of menstruation she has had annoying pain in that area.

She had asked to use the 715 for a sprained knee incurred during a fall on the ice. It was such a help she asked to try it for this pain. Now remember, she has had this pain every month for 38 years. She applied the 715 to the spot and dosed twice. The pain left and has never returned.

Thank you for your help.

"She stayed pain free. It now has been several months..."

The back pain cure?

I have a friend that has had back problems for many years. She gets locked up and can hardly move. The last time this happened, I offered help, but was politely declined. She has a very stressful family situation. Added to this was the wedding of her son, a highly emotionally charged event. After several days of watching her hurt, I told her to stop being so stubborn and let me help. She was tired of hurting and agreed.

We worked on her hip with both the Q-laser, the 715 and the DOVE for about an hour. Emotions were a big part of the distress. I used Flower Essences topically as I work as well. At that point she was pain free and mobile. It took several more times working on the same areas until she stayed pain free. It now has been several months.

"You've restored some of my hearing!"

Improved hearing experience

My thrilling odyssey with the Healing FUSION tools began in 2006 in the office of an esthetician friend who worked on my husband and me with the 715 COSMODIC. Among other areas, she worked on my ears--both in front and behind them. I then went into another room when she started working on my husband.

Soon I heard them talking and the volume was rather loud. When I asked if they were talking louder than before and they said "no". I started excitedly shouting, "You've restored some of my hearing!"

This improvement convinced me to purchase a 715. Since that time, in order to preserve my improved hearing, I've periodically worked on my ears with the 715 - sometimes in conjunction with the SOLARIS blanket. Because my goal is to totally restore my hearing, the next step is to obtain proprioceptive guides so that I may use my 880 Enhancer with my Q1000 Soft LASER.

I have also used the 715 COSMODIC with outstanding results on various other issues. For example, giving dramatic pain reduction and significantly increased range of motion 5 weeks post shoulder surgery, and providing the first significant pain relief in one year following wrist surgery.

"The wart has totally disappeared"

Healing the annoying wart

I have had an annoying wart on my index finger for many years. Recently, I inadvertently caught it on something and "shaved" off the very top of it. I snipped off the skin flap which now left the raw center exposed and very painful to the slightest touch. After enduring this discomfort for a couple of days I decided to give the 715 a try. I placed it directly on the wound (actually the wart was between 2 of the electrodes) at a low power level so as not to cause more pain.

The day after the first dosing the wound showed obvious improvement. Following further dosing on two consecutive days the wart has totally disappeared.

"No one would ever imagine that anything had ever happened"

Treatment of a bad burn

This past Spring, I traveled to visit my sister in Ohio and was really looking forward to having a cup of her extra-strong coffee. Normally, I abstain from caffeine, but I wanted something special to mark the occasion, so I rummaged through her cupboard to find a cup that pleased me. Good! I found just the one — lightweight, yet with porcelain feel to it. Perfect. I picked up the coffee pot and discovered that the coffee had cooled. No problem — I filled the cup, popped it in the microwave and tapped the "reheat" button.

When the buzzer sounded, I confidently reached in and grabbed the cup. OWWWWW! My index finger was on fire! The handle was superhot and right at the first joint, my finger was deeply burned. The pain was excruciating, even going deep into the bone. The swelling was immediate and immense.

My sister dove for the freezer for ice, but I dove for my purse and my 715. Faithful travel companion - always ready to heal! Immediately, "Old Faithful" went to work drawing off the pain, drawing off the swelling, calming my shattered nervous system. I kept the scanner on my finger for nearly an hour, gently moving it around the area until I could place the 715 right on top of the burn. The redness disappeared; the swelling went down; the pain was gone.

Throughout the visit, I continued treatments and a small cushion of fluid stayed under the skin, allowing the new layers of skin to form. Within a week, this released as the new skin was ready for its debut. There is no scarring. My finger has full movement and is perfectly normal. No one would ever imagine that anything had ever happened.

That "perfect" cup? Turns out that is was an old Corningware Centura pattern that has metal baked into the porcelain. Makes it lightweight and sturdy — and dangerous in the microwave. Since the rise of the microwave, Corning has discontinued its manufacture. Good.

"These options... can give people the hope that they need to go on fighting yet another day!"

Successful treatment of depression

It is always a blessing when you can help people who are truly suffering, some from physical illnesses, but also those that suffer from mental and emotional issues. Below is an experience that really touched our hearts.

I spoke to a wife and mother who purchased a 715 Cosmodic Scenar and later a Solaris Healing Blanket for her family. She purchased these two items because her husband (and two sons) suffered from serious depression. She took this action because it was a potential life-threatening situation. Her husband's father and uncle had committed suicide. Depression, they say, "ran in the family." This was a very frightening situation for any family to cope with, much less live with on a day to day basis.

Below is just a short excerpt from her email:

"We are doing great. My husband is doing much better. We use the Scenar (715 Cosmodic) and the Blanket all the time and view them as two of our best investments. Thank you for checking on us."

I relate this experience in the hope that it might help others in a similar situation. It is helpful for people to know that if they cannot afford the 715 Cosmodic, the Dove is also beneficial in helping with depression and yet it is more affordable for the average family. So no matter what a family's circumstances are, there is help available as long as you know where to turn.

Drugs will always be available through health insurance and government programs, so remember - the choice is still yours. Please find comfort in knowing that there are other options available that can help you and your families.

Thank you, Dr. Irina, for pioneering a path that others can follow and pass on to their loved ones who have suffered with serious health issues. These options that conventional medicine has no clue about can give people the hope that they need to go on fighting yet another day!

"He felt so good afterward that he went home and painted a bedroom"

Treatment of a dislocated shoulder

A friend of ours slipped on a wet rock and threw up his arms to catch his balance and threw out his shoulder. He was unable to raise his arm at all.

Two days later we used the 715 on him doing the 3 points and the points of pain on his shoulder and arm. He was 50% better when he left. We did one more treatment 2 days later. He felt so good afterward that he went home and painted a bedroom the next day which was not a good idea.

Two days later we saw him again and he could not lift his arm to put on his shirt. So we worked on him again and by the time he left he was able to put on his shirt and button it. This time he did not go home and paint. It is now a month later and he has no pain and no restrictions on using his arm.

"My skin from the 715 is looking great and people are surprised to hear how old I really am"

Multiple healing experiences

I began a love affair with my Q1000 and the 715 COSMODIC scenar three years ago. I had smashed up my shoulder, had surgery to rebuild it with cadaver bones, metal plates, screws, pins, etc. Two months after surgery, I was still in agony every time I moved and getting mighty depressed, feeling that my life was over, fearing I would never even be able to return to work. The pain zapped all my energy. My friends and family were very worried about me, and so was I.

Then a miracle happened. A friend of a friend was in town and brought over her Q1000. I used it for about an hour the first day and then for ½ hour the next day, then she had to leave. I cannot even begin to describe what happened to me. Using it on #1 mode took away the intensity of my pain. I alternated with #1 and #3, as she only had 3 modes on hers.

After the first day, I had so much energy that I was bouncing around. I could sense the joy in my cells! I knocked on my neighbours' doors so they could see me, and they were astounded!! They were shocked at the transformation in me.

Within a week I had my own "miracle machine."

I was having trouble getting my bones to grow also and the surgeon kept telling me I would need more surgery or the screws would break off and I'd really be in trouble needing emergency surgery. I wasn't agreeing to it. What saved me was the Q1000, 715, and the blanket from Russia. It took more months, but finally my bones did start to grow and I have not needed more surgery.

I have since found so many uses for the Q1000. I have an elderly dog with severe arthritis and when I used it on her after just one treatment I was able to throw away her pain pills and arthritis medicine. I give her a treatment twice a week. She had been walking on 3 legs before we started using the Q1000. My skin from the 715 is looking great and people are surprised to hear how old I really am. Of course, I don't tell too many people my real age! 😊

I love to share and have had so much success helping people with all kinds of ailments and pains from releasing frozen shoulders to healing tennis elbow to insomnia to an uplifting sense of well-being for a friend with cancer.

"Such ingenious little device!"

Multiple healing experiences with the 715 COSMODIC

We own a 715 cosmodic, a DOVE and a C-Dove and various attachments. We are really impressed at how well they work especially compared to the first generation of scenars which were complex and often very irritating to the skin. Below I will include some experiences with your equipment:

1) I personally experienced what I felt was an outbreak of a herpes virus on my backside about every 6-10 months for a few years in the same exact location. It would start out like a small itchy spot and turn into a full blown boil within about a week. It would usually take about 2 weeks to completely heal. It was very painful and uncomfortable. I decided to try the 715 on the spot where it had broken open. I was amazed at how quickly it healed. Within hours I could tell it was drying up and within a couple of days it was completely healed. I'm just sorry I didn't try it sooner. The boil has never returned and it's been about 3 years now.

2) I have also used the Dove and the 715 on moles I did not like the looks of. It took a longer period of time to get rid of them but they would begin to change shape, thicken and then dry up! I also used it on a wart and a skin tag. I also had a keloid on my left leg for at least 10-15 years. It was about the size of a quarter and very scaly and rough. The doctor said it was nothing to worry about but I tried the 715 on it and it completely disappeared after a month or two.

3) We have also used it on various skin conditions and muscle spasms all with good results.

Thank you for wanting to spread the word about such ingenious little devices!

"After just a few minutes she reported to lose pain"

Treatment of a severe chronic neck and shoulder pain

For me my experience with my 715ag cosmic has been more a lot of smaller stories than big miracles of dramatic cures.

This is due to how I have used the device, having not had the need to treat major problems or perhaps to some degree I didn't feel comfortable branching out because of my lack of training in applying the device. For this reason I am excited about The SCENAR Book as a means to broaden my abilities in treating a greater range of disease and dysfunction.

The cosmic always has a positive effect and it's hard to pick one particular treatment, so I will report my latest result.

A friend with severe chronic pain in the neck and shoulder from injury 6 years old agreed to receive a treatment. After just a few minutes she reported to lose pain sensation. Visible relaxation was apparent. Treated her for about 30 minutes, she left feeling relieved.

One week later I gave her a second treatment which she totally enjoyed, reporting that the following day she felt the improvement had continued throughout the night and she didn't feel the need for more at that point. It was apparent that she was more relaxed and at ease, as well as very grateful for the experience.

"She was 90% recovered - fully operational again and enjoying life"

Regaining health with multiple systemic disorders

I first used my 715 on my friend, Tammy. First, here is a little background medical history on her.

She had been chronically ill for over 22 years with problems her doctors could not diagnose. In January 2002, she was diagnosed with Celiac Disease which she had from birth, almost dying from "failure to survive" as an infant. She immediately went on a strict gluten free diet (which she maintains to this day), but her symptoms did not completely resolve. Allergy testing uncovered a myriad of other food allergies which she immediately eliminated from her diet. Her health improved somewhat, but the random fevers and night sweats continued.

In 2004, Tammy was diagnosed with Rosacea, and in 2005, she was diagnosed with Reynaud's Syndrome. In Dec. of 2006, Tammy was having fevers daily and severe night sweats that soaked the sheets on her bed. As the days and weeks went on, Tammy became so critically ill she could no longer function properly in her duties as a housewife or manage their home-based business. She was so weak that she slept the day away on a mattress on her den floor. She literally had to be carried up and down stairs to her bedroom by her husband. Her feet and ankles hurt so badly that even the weight of a sheet was more than she could bear. The feet and ankles had to be bandaged at night to prevent 'dropping'. She became unable to walk at all without assistance from her husband. December 28, 2006, Tammy was diagnosed with non-viral hepatitis; her liver enzymes being 40-50 times higher than normal. Her doctors stated that she possibly had autoimmune hepatitis, but could not confirm without a liver biopsy which she declined.

When I saw Tammy in March of 2007, she looked like a cancer patient knocking on death's door.

When we started using the 715 her health gradually began to return. She guessed she was 90% recovered - fully operational again and enjoying life including long walks with her husband and workouts on their home gym equipment.

There was one point after the second treatment with the 715 when she felt like she was sliding back into that dark abyss again. It so frightened her husband he forbid her to use the 715 anymore, but she persisted. He began to see the results and started using the device on her. Tammy said she did the 3 pathways, 6 points on him the other night. At first he said, "I don't feel a thing" and then sat in his favorite chair. It wasn't long and he had a "WOW" moment. Tammy didn't elaborate, but her husband has an extremely stressful job. He seemed to totally relax.

So that's Tammy's story so far. She can't wait for her own device to come.

Or How to Save $4,500 on a Vet Bill

Forward by Dr. Irina:

"If you are a Home Healer (and even if you are not), you are most likely an animal lover.

And how can you NOT love those fuzz balls with big hearts that always tend to be around when you are hurting? They will try to do anything they can to take your pain away - and sure enough, just in a few minutes your headache dissipates, your blood pressure goes down (proven in scientific studies), your stress level decreases... Whatever is the actual biomechanics of these effects, I am convinced that UNCONDITIONAL LOVE is the main ingredient of your pet's medicine.

Unfortunately, sometimes our furry Home Healers get sick too – and then it is your turn to become a caregiver for your loving and devoted companions.

That, however, may drill a big unexpected hole in your family finances. Vet services are costly these days... But if you are a Home Healer, you've got it covered! Just use your SCENARs, COSMODICs, Soft LASERS, Solaris Blankets, and even homeopathic imprinters on your kitties and doggies. Just the same way you'd use it on yourself. There is really not so much difference between them and you. You may even find out that they are much more responsive to your therapy than your fellow human beings 😊

That's what a Home Healer Ethel Snooks just found out – in the process of saving her little doggie from a costly surgery. In fact, so costly ($4,500) that it was hardly affordable to Ethel and her husband. The only other option was to put their dog down. And if it wouldn't be for to the 715 COSMODIC... But here is the whole story."

The Benjy Story

by Ethel Snooks

"Tuesday evening, August 10, 2011, Benjy, our lovable little 11 pound fluffy white dog, jumped off the couch as he had done hundreds of times, and lunged for a toy my husband was holding on the floor waiting to play with him. But as Benjy lunged, he let out a loud yelp, scrunched up his back, wouldn't walk and yelped again when we tried to pick him up by his chest – as always. He was acting as if in great distress so we immediately took him to the emergency vet.

The vet described the problem as 'blowing' a disc(s). Neurological deficits were found in both front legs and a back leg. He was not paralyzed but the vet said that was a possibility, so he wanted to keep Benjy overnight. If he deteriorated he would rush him to surgery that may or may not be totally successful. Cost would be $4500. We were left alone to come to a decision and decided to put him down, but when we told the vet our decision, he said to wait and take him to his regular vet in the morning. He would fax his findings to Benjy's regular vet.

We brought him home on a strong narcotic, a strong anti-inflammatory and a muscle relaxer. Before going to bed we prayed for our little rascal. What a rollercoaster of emotions we were going through!

Early Wednesday morning we took Benjy to his regular vet. Since at the time of injury he behaved in a similar manner as when we first got him, and he is such a poor jumper, the vet thought this may be an acute exacerbation of a chronic injury, and the deficits may or may not be new, so surgery may not be a good option right now. The vet thought the injury was in the cervical area. Benjy was to stay on the meds and complete bed rest for six weeks – only going outside to take care of his business. He was to see the vet again in a week. His vet said he should never jump again – if he didn't get better he would add a steroid. If he became paralyzed, well, we will talk then. We brought him home and made a restricted area around his bed, but he was so drugged he wasn't interested in going anywhere.

When we first got Benjy (he is a rescue dog who was possibly abused in the past), the breeder told us these little dogs jump 6 feet high. Benjy just made it jumping up on the sofa or a chair. In addition to the trauma of a new home, Benjy would attack any man entering our home with dark pants. He still does that after 4 years with us. Hm! Do we now know why this little dog was returned to the breeder. Was he returned because he was injured by a man in dark pants?

My brain finally got in gear, and I began to think what we might do to help Benjy. Immediately the 715 came to mind so I hurriedly emailed Mediscen for advice. Jeanne Tayler answered immediately. "Yes! Shave him down the spine and treat three times a day," was her reply". "If you can't shave him, part his hair, wet the area thoroughly and treat! " Once you shave these little dogs, their hair doesn't grow back in properly, so I elected to part the hair, wet it down and treat that way.

The first treatment was about 10 AM Wednesday morning – about 14 hours after the injury Benjy didn't move. In the cervical area just below the left ear I got responses all the way up to 770, and then about 5 or 6 inches down the spine from that point I got readings up to 710. The energy level registered 5%. I did that three times Wednesday.

The difference in him with just three treatments was like night and day! The highest readings Thursday morning were in the 500s. Benjy was still laying quietly for treatment, but then the next time, I started as usual in the cervical area, and all of a sudden Benjy jerked away. Checking I discovered the energy level was 45% and climbing. I turned the energy level down and we continued treating.

We kept treating three times a day. His energy level continued improving and then we noticed he didn't seem to need as much medication so we began reducing it.* He was now acting like his old self – showing interest in what was going on around here, barking at strange noises – greeting us in the morning with his usual 'over the top' enthusiasm. When we would take him out on a leash to take care of his business he would try to pull us to the gate to go for his daily walk.

One week later we took him back to the vet who was very pleased to tell us Benjy's injury was totally healed – no longer any deficits in his legs. He can jump up but not down. In a day he could go for his walks again, but how do we train this lovable little rascal to keep from injuring himself again?

*We gave Benjy aloe vera juice along with his meds to protect his stomach, and probiotics in his food to replenish the flora in the intestinal tract being killed off by the drugs.

An update on Benjy in a week time:

“Ever since we got him he has had trouble balancing on one foot to relieve himself. After maybe 3 seconds he loses his balance, ‘catches’ himself and turns around and lifts the other leg, only to have the same thing happen. It requires several attempts to empty out completely. Never having had such a small dog with little legs and feet, we just thought this was normal. However, for the past two days that has changed. He can now lift either back leg and stand there perfectly balanced until he empties out.

We are just amazed and so grateful for finding you all.”

Ethel Snooks (Atlanta, GA)
